Council contemplates annexation

The possibility of annexing additional land to serve the needs of a rapidly growing community was discussed at Elk Point's May 27 meeting of Town Council, although no mention was made of specific areas being considered for annexation.

Municipal Planner Ron DenBoer met with Council and outlined the steps necessary in the annexation process. DenBoer urged the Town to act swiftly if they feel that land must be obtained for 1985 use, because application would need to be made by the end of June if this is the case.

A strong desire to wait for the completion of the General Municipal Plan review before undertaking the annexation was noted, but this could delay the availability of needed areas until January 1, 1987.

Council agreed to have the administration prepare a list of possible areas which would lend themselves to this purpose, for further consideration. It was generally agreed that the primary need at this time is for an increased industrial area.

Council gave the go-ahead to WRD Borger Construction's 15 lot single family residential development, while thunder boomed outside, with one council member quipping that this was a vote of approval from a higher power. The development agreement and bylaw for the subdivision will now be drafted by the administration.

A second request for deferral of offsite levies on the second phase of the aptment complex by Kenart Investments Ltd. was defeated, with Council voting to stand firm on their previous decision.

A Council decision of financing of servicing for the highway commercial and industrial land was tabled until the magnitude of these costs is determined.

Recreation board recommendations for disbursement of CRC grant funds were adopted by Council, who later discussed at length the extra funding required for a master plan of the recreational land. Council voted to retain Earthscape Consultants Ltd. to prepare the plan.

A letter from the Town will be sent to offenders whose property contravenes Bylaw 393/84, Untidy and Unsightly Premises. The owners have already been approached by the Bylaw Officer, but have not yet remedied the situation.

A suggestion was made for a bylaw which would prohibit parking on both sides of the street running between Elk Point Elementary School and F.G. Miller High School, as of September 1, 1985. A READY FOR OCCUPANCY — Elk Point's new Municipal Library is ready for moving day, with Town Council accepting the building as complete at Monday's meeting.

Mayor Buck was excused from the Council Chambers during discussion of awarding the municipal gravel contract. Council voted to accept the offer by Car Ouells, to supply the needed material at $5 per yard delivered to the Town Shop or $3 per yard stockpiled at the pit. Five hundred yards will be delivered, with the balance stockpiled.

Progress Payment #5 was approved on the new Municipal Library, in the amount of $22,130.01. The certificate of substantial performance was also approved and the building accepted as complete subject to a list of minor deficiencies.

notice will be directed to the schools regarding the proposed bylaw, and asking for their reaction.

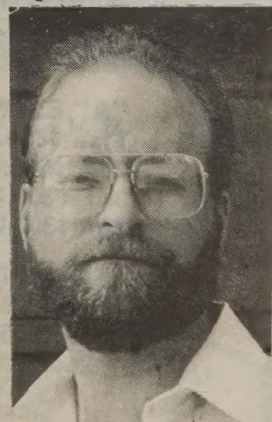

Oilmen elect new executive

A new executive was elected for the Elk Point Oilmen's Association 1985/1986 year at their Annual Meeting held on May 6, 1985 at the Elk's Hall. The new executive is as follows: Past President — Bob Paynter; President — Dave Kenyon; Vice President —

Marshall Kachmar; Treasurer — Allan Frankiw; Secretary — Jack Tarnowsky; Directors — Wayne Spence, Maurice Ringette, Paul Arndt, Mark Wills, Doug Bassett, Bernie Goruk, and Russ Hebblethwaite. The Association was formed in May of 1984, with the objectives of organizing social functions (e.g. golf tournaments, curling bonspiels, Christmas parties, etc) for its members and personnel involved in the oil industry, and to provide a liaison between the general public and the oil industry. The Association also helps to co-ordinate the Oil Patch Crime Watch program, which is a crime prevention program sponsored by the RCMP.

There are currently 82 members in the Association, with personal memberships for oilmen and associate memberships for non-oilmen available through the Executive. For further information, call Dave Kenyon at 724-3776, or Bernie Goruk at 724-4329.

New deputy

Dr. Bruce Kleeberger became Elk Point's new Deputy Mayor by acclamation on Monday night, when fellow nominee Alvina Schuhmacher declined her nomination to the post.

Kleeberger replaces Councillor Steve Stepaniuk, whose six month term of office has expired.

Hurrah for Heinsburg Class of 1985

Word has been received from the Elk Point RCMP detachment that the 1985 Graduating Class of Heinsburg High School has also met the Safe Grad challenge, with no liquor offences being reported which involved the graduands.

Thanks to the program, a safe and happy Graduation Day was enjoyed by all. Way to go, Grads!

A full account of Heinsburg Graduation will appear in next week's issue.

HERE THEY COME! — What has 600 legs, and shouts "Inside! Outside!" in resounding unison? The students and staff of F.G. Miller High tied themselves together into a wacky and wonderful super-centipede Friday in a Moga Madness kick-off to National Physical Activity Week.

Thank You

Mrs. Emma Wilson and family extend sincere thanks and appreciation to relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness, floral tributes, donations and food at the time of passing of her dear husband and their father, James Wilson.

Our special thanks to Rev. David Jones and organist Mrs. Way, the pallbearers and the Boscombe Community Club who provided and served lunch.

We are grateful to Dr. O'Connor and nursing staff of Station B1, of the Royal Alexandra Hospital and Dr. Russel and nursing staff of the Drayton Valley hospital for your assistance and care.

Also to Park Dale Funeral Home for making the necessary funeral arrangements, our thanks.

Fair Board news

by IRENE MAGNUSSON

The Elk Point Agricultural Society Fair Board gathered for a final meeting before summer sets in in earnest, May 21st, 7:30 p.m., in the home of Chairman Margret Modin. Twelve members were present.

Secretary Sharon Kuhn brought the group up to date on what has gone on lately. Tags are ready, and will be available from the Lakeland Review and Printing Office in Elk Point, across from the Post Office. Prize List booklets are also available there.

Modin reported she has contacted the District Home Economist's office, and has been assured that the selection of Judges for the fair is 'almost' finalized. There will be the same number of judges, not necessarily the same persons.

Selection of a judge for the Photography section was discussed, as this is not covered by the D.H.E. offices. Modin will make inquiries.

An order of ribbons for prize winners must be made. Businesses have been contacted to contribute to the Aggregate Winners; all is in order. The grand prize will be $50 cash.

Several ideas for displays during the fair were discussed, with each convenor responsible for the display in her area. To hear and see what was decided you must attend the fair. But I can say it will be an interesting display, with lots of work put into it. This being International Year of Youth may have some bearing on it.

An interesting and informative article "And the Winner Is..." was noted in the County Guide, which describes judging rules for fairs, how to best display, and other criteria. Members were urged to read it. There will be a pre-fair meeting, Thursday, Aug. 8th, 7:30 p.m. at Modin's.

Drama class plans a night to remember

F.G. Miller High School's Junior High drama students are busy preparing for this coming Friday evening, when they will present their final offering of the year, "A Night to Remember".

Billed as their "best show yet", the "Night" will include singing, drama and surprises. Performance time is 7:30 p.m.

Be sure to catch what promises to be a great evening of entertainment.

As we have often been told, the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, and what better way to anyone's heart than with good and delicious baking? Listed on first page in your fair guide book is Baking, convened by Deanna Easthope. Twenty-nine different categories are offered, from Angel Food cake to Zucchini loaf, they are all there.

Try your hand at some good old-fashioned homemade bread. There are several varieties, all come under the 'staff of life' definition. Go down the list, there are muffins, biscuits, rolls, cookies. Is your mouth watering yet?

I'll go on. What about squares — those delicious little morsels, full of fruit, nuts, and many other surprises — just right to go along with your afternoon coffee? The variety is endless — surely you know one that will bring you a red ribbon.

There are a multitude of 'Loaves' which are not bread at all, but borrow the name to describe their shapes. Look at them, carrot loaf, date loaf, banana loaf — and the good old zucchini loaf. Plenty of scope for your creativity, and good eating when you are through. Practice ahead — for the Fair.

Now we get in to the cakes. Note that all are not iced, some only one-fourth of your creation need be displayed, and there is one to be judged for fancy decoration only. Pies, of apple, lemon or fresh fruit, to tempt the eye and appetite, tarts and jelly roll — yummy, is all I can say.

Candy making is almost a lost art, there is so much ready-made in the stores. But here we have an opportunity to dust off our skills and try out on two varieties of candy and/or chocolate fudge — need one say more?

Pyroggies were not forgotten, either, so if this is your specialty — now is the chance to show your ability.

The very beauty of all this baked goods, is that most can be baked up ahead of time, stored in your freezer, leaving you free for other last minute things (like picking your flowers and vegetables) just before the fair. I suppose icings would have to be applied at the last hour.

So — dust off your cookbooks, sort through your files. You have just the right recipe in there, I'm sure. And if you want to practice a little, and need a tasting judge to comment — you can always invite me over. I'm always willing to help in that department. See you at the fair.

Crop report

The estimate current soil moisture conditions are fair for summer-fallow and stubble. The estimate growth prospects under current moisture conditions are good.

The estimate percentage of seeding now completed is 65% for Hard Red Spring Wheat, 40% for Oats, 40% for Barley, and 50% for Canola.

The estimate total acreage of each crop compared to last year is 95% for Hard Red Spring Wheat, 105% for Oats, 105% for Barley, 105% for Canola and 90% for Summerfallow.

Warm weather conditions are causing quick germination of crops. Some spotty showers in the area being of more assistance than set backs. A general rain will be soon required to maintain good crop support.

Lakeland Tourist Association meets in Ashmont

By Irene Magnusson

I'm learning — slowly, to be sure, but at least a start — what the Lakeland Tourist Association is for, who is in it — and why they meet.

Firstly — as I'm seeing it — these are people who, for numerous reasons, want to promote the "sale" of our lakeland country to the tourists. Simple, so far.

Some are looking to bringing people into their towns and villages, as potential customers for our food, service places, entertainment and shops of all sorts. Some want to entice them into the parks and campsites.

So members will go to great lengths to slow these passersby down, to get them to look at the scenery, test our waters, fish our lakes, view our historical landmarks — and, just maybe, stop and shop. We also want them to go home happy and tell their friends about this really great place. And we want them to come back next year — and next year.

Governments generally are behind this effort, and spend whatever they can to beautify our parks, and to supply needed facilities for visitors — whether they are from our own Canada or elsewhere.

For the benefit of ourselves especially, effort has been made to develop yet preserve some of our natural wilderness areas, to supply access and necessities, yet leave the natural flora and fauna as much as it always was, as is possible.

On May 11th, 1985, the Lakeland Tourist Association (L.T.A.) met in Ashmont, with some two dozen in attendance. The highschool auditorium was the scene, with two giant red Falcons rampant on the wall above the meeting tables. This is home base for the Ashmont Falcons, a basketball team of some fame.

Lorne Asshton-Smith presided, and the meeting moved at a good clip, with reports and minutes of the April-snowed-on meeting at Vegreville leading off. To brighten the day (preceeding Mother's Day) Mr. Lypka of Vegreville presented each lady with a colorful long-stemmed carnation.

Ideas put forth at the Veg. meeting had been received by Travel Alberta. who responded with a call for "more ideas."

Other reports were received: a convention on Roads was attended in Yorkton, Sask; the Riel Brochure is making the rounds; activities commemorating the 100th Anniversary of that Rebellion are shaping up well in the Lloydminster area.

Tours out of Lloydminster will proceed every Sunday through the designated period; a payment of $180 will cover a 2-day tour, with motel accomodation. There will be variations on this.

Onion Lake will hold a Centennial celebration,

May 25/85.

The L.T.A. had 290 paid-up members at meeting date— more are hoped for. Eva Carson, staff member, will be promoting this.

The outline of the Lakeland Guide was discussed. This brochure lists attractions to see in the area, and will be available shortly at tourist booths.

Hospitality Week (May 18 to 25) was discussed. Two radio stations (at Lloydminster and Ft. McMurray) wanted information from L.T.A. to air during that week.

A 'Tourist Information Course' will be offered at Two Hills, June 1st. This should guarantee a smile once in a while, to welcome the tourists to our land.

A promotional idea, to advertise the whole area as well as localities, was brought forth. Logo stickers, in the form of post cards, seemed attractive, yet a bit expensive. It will be offered to towns, for their consideration.

An Events Calender, listing coming activities is being prepared, and will be available soon.

The St. Paul Trade Show was announced for May 31, June 1st and 2nd. This is a major promotion for the area.

The member from Lac La Biche invited all to the next meeting, in his town, June 22nd. Meeting will be followed by a fish-fry, band entertainment and a Fish Derby — all along the shores of beautiful Lac Lac Biche.

Signs were discussed: the large new one being erected in Lloydminster to replace one which has seen better days; and the suggestion to put up "YOU ARE NOW ENTERING ZONE 6" signs on roads entering the Lakeland. Both ideas were approved.

Group discussions followed adjournment, and a bus was waiting to tour the facilities and improvements now proceeding at Garner Lake Prov. Park.

Ashmont ladies had prepared and served an ample and varied 'potluck' type luncheon in the auditorium, complete with Ashmont's Birthday cake.

More child ID dates set

The Elk Point Lions Club has set June 3 and 4 as the dates for their Child Identification program at Heinsburg School.

Anyone whose children have not yet been processed under the program will be able to bring the youngsters to the Toronto-Dominion Bank in Elk Point from 10:00 a.m. until noon on any of four days, Monday, June 24 to Thursday, June 27.

Just being a member of the L.T.A. helps us know our Zone better. That day was the first time I've been in Ashmont — and I've lived here almost beside it all my life.

Don't just sit there

One, two, three, Participact! Wake up, everyone, it's National Physical Activity Week!

No, you don't have to run a mile, lift hundred pound weights, walk on your hands across a balancing beam or swim across Whitney Lake. All you have to do is something very basic: Walk.

You have probably been engaged in this particular activity since you were a year old, or maybe even younger. Also, you have been practising on a day-to-day basis since that time. Now you can join all of Canada in declaring this simple activity as the latest sports rage.

You are never too young to participate: If you are too small for sneakers, get someone to wheel you in your stroller while you kick and gurgle and wave at passing dogs.

You are never too old, either: those in charge of the Elderobic Moonwalk, during which senior citizens will add up the miles they walk this week in an attempt to equal the distance to the moon, say they will indeed count the miles ridden in a wheelchair by seniors unable to walk.

And, for the rest of us, why not walk to the post office tomorrow — or to the coffee shop — or even go for a walk in the woods, or around town, this evening?

And why not take a friend along — for Participaction with inter-action?

Slow, but necessary

During the past few weeks, an increasing number of farm implements have become evident on the highways, as the farmers travel to and from their various fields.

A single highway journey to a neighboring town may yield several encounters with this slow-moving traffic. Just how slow it is, is especially noticeable in the hillier stretches, when one must follow a tractor drawing an implement for some distance before being able to pass.

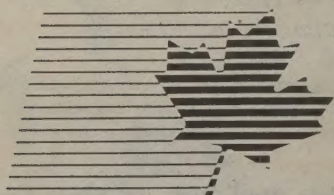

We must emphasize the need for caution when approaching these large travellers from either direction. Many times they are wider than the width of a highway lane, in addition to obstructing the view of uncoming traffic, and must be overtaken or met with extreme care.

On gravel roads, there is often a narrow road surface, and blind corners and tree-lined curves add to the problem.

Spring farm work is well underway. Let's help the farmers by contributing to their safety, as well as our own, as they hurry from field to field, intent on making the best use of each spring day.

Slow down — and play it safe.

meanwhile, back at the ranch

by VICKI BROOKER

Try, try again...

This week, I'm trying out a new theory of gardening — "If you can't beat it — live with it."

First of all, I have this one problem spot in my flower bed, where the outdoor top is, the garden hose gets dragged through and piled up, firewood gets piled in the winter before being handed in through the basement window, and the dog likes to take naps.

I have tried all sorts of remedies over the years. I tried planting a large, spiny cactus where the dog preferred to park. She sat on it and killed it.

I tried putting a little path of stepping stones to the water tap. People stepped everywhere else.

I tried edging the flower bed with plastic picket fence. The hose tangled in it, people stepping over to turn on the tap kicked it and broke it, and the dog walked over as if it weren't there.

Last year, I bought a roll of chicken wire and some steel fence posts. Aha! THIS should keep the wildlife out! Ha! It didn't. People leaned over, then stepped over, to turn on the tap and pulled the hose over it, which bent part of the wire down, but even before that, the dog decided 30" of fence was no real challenge & leaped in and out at will playing tag with the cat.

The only one who couldn't get in there easily was me, to pull weeds and tidy up the flower beds, which along with the sagging wire, made them quite aesthetically unpleasant to view.

So — first thing this spring, up came the steel posts, and off came the wire, which required considerable straightening before even being suitable to roll up.

Out came the bumper crop of weeds and quack grass which I couldn't reach properly last year. Out came all the spare animal parts that had been so tidily buried behind the plants and bushes.

And out came the few spindly, surviving plants from the problem area, to be moved down to a less heavily travelled spot (and moved again a few minutes later by marauding monster puppies, and quickly replaced by a shovel-brandishing son).

A trip up the field yielded a nice pile of flat rocks — and after a little effort, the problem spot turned into a fieldstone mini-patio for dogs, hose, and turners-on of tap.

(And in case you're wondering, no I'm not looking for dog-sized patio furniture — I've already had one enquiry into that).

A volunteer spirea bush, very indestructible by nature was dug from a spot where its relatives were scooped by tractor last fall, to spruce up one end of the new installation.

The white plastic picket fence, which detaches in one foot sections, came in handy to make triangles and squares to put protectively around new plantings. Whether this will work or not, is yet to be seen.

Here's hoping.

Clandonald News

by Shirley Osinchuk

All day and all evening the robin sang from the top of the dead tree outside my back door. This morning when I woke up he was singing again. All is well in his little world.

In our wider world we are all saddened by the sudden passing of Mrs. Yvonne Cusack. Our sincere sympathy to Mr. Bill Cusack and all their family.

Thank you to the Knights of Columbus who cooked and served a delicious pancake breakfast on Mother's Day. Even though the weather was wet and cold, about two hundred people enjoyed breakfast and visiting. There was no charge for Moms and children under twelve years.

During the morning there was a raffle for several useful or delicious items which were all donated. All the proceeds go to the "Knights For Moms" project. The money raised is divided between the beds in the sixteen Alberta homes for battered women and abused children. Last year there was enough left over to help support the new home being built in Camrose. Thank you, Knights, for all your hard work.

Around town there is plenty of construction activity. The Wheat Pool elevator is being renovated, with a new scale to be installed, and another annex added, which arrived from Mundare this week.

The new Clandonald Inn is almost completed, and the official opening will be soon.

Frank's Shell is setting up a bulk station across the street from the garage.

One business, McCormack's Hardware, is closing, with an auction planned for June 15.

Recent Agricultural Society lottery winners are Leonard McPhee and Tony Lawrence.

On Friday, May 17, ten of our local teens went to St. Paul for a swim and time of fun and devotional study with the Teen Fellowship. This group meets every second Friday, rotating between Clandonald, Myrnam, Two Hills and St. Paul. They always have a good time, and are making new friendships with teens in these other areas. Teen Fellowship meetings are announced in the Clandonald School Newsletter which is printed each Tuesday.

The Clandonald girls' ball teams are practising twice a week and have enjoyed their first games. The 10 to 12 year old team was encouraged by winning its first game, against Marwayne, On Friday, the 17th. The next games scheduled are with Elk Point in Clandonald, on May 29 at 7 p.m., and Dewberry in Clandonald, on June 5. The 13 to 16's played Rusylvia, with Rusylvia winning. Their next home game is with Marwayne 2, on Monday the 27th. Practices are Thursdays at 7 p.m.

Coming Events:

— Twenty-fifth Anniversary for Father Marion on May 26.
— Clandonald 4-H Achievement Day and Sale, June 9 and 10.
— Community Garage Sale sponsored by the Clandonald Kindergarten Parents on June 15.

Clandonald High School Reunion on June 29 and 30. There is a detailed write-up in this newspaper.

Take time to enjoy the new life all around, and have a safe spring.

MUST BE SOLD BY JUNE 15th

CGIT young and alive for 1985

Young and Alive for '85 is the theme being used across Canada to celebrate the 70th Anniversary of CGIT. To celebrate, special events will be held in every region of Canada.

In Alberta, a combined girl/leader conference was held at Camrose Lutheran College on May 24 - 26. Over 500 girls and leaders from across the province attended. Special guest resource person was the Very Rev. Lois Wilson, former Moderator of the United Church of Canada, co-director of the Ecumenical Forum of Canada, and a President of the World Council of Churches.

Locally, the CGIT group from Elk Point United Church of Elk Point attended the conference. They are: Lori Irvine, Shelly Lesyk, Melinda Ockerman, Nancy Cox (leader), Cathy Irvine, Arla Irvine, Tina Bjorkman & Colleen Cameron.
